NO. 270—SIXTY-NINTH YEAR.

Tidal Waves Predicted As Result of Prolonged Earthquakes in Pacific

Honolulu Observatory Warns Shipping in the Neighborhood of Hawaii—Seismographs All Over North America Record Most Intense Earthquake for Years

Southeastern Alaska on Fringe of Disturbance Reports Cables Broken

SEATTLE, Oct. 24.—Earthquake shocks of considerable intensity shook Southeastern Alaska today, severing cables maintained by the United States Government Army Signal Corps between Ketchikan and Wrangell, and between Juneau, Haines and Skagway, breaking dishes and stopping clocks.

Reports from Western Alaska, which includes a score of active volcanoes, were lacking, and there were some indications that the centre of the disturbance was in the Pacific Ocean, off the coast of Alaska.

Dr. P. Byerly, seismologist of the University of California, reported from Berkeley that the chart indicated that the disturbance centred 1,650 miles northwest of Seattle. The earthquake was of great intensity, Dr. Byerly said, and lasted from 8:05 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. Pacific Coast time.

TIDAL WAVES PREDICTED

In Honolulu, Dr. T. A. Jaggar, director of the Mount Kilauea volcano laboratory, notified the hydrographic office that tidal waves, dangerous to shipping, would occur in Hawaiian harbors between 10:10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Pacific Coast time. The earth shocks were recorded by seismograph all over North America, in many instances throwing the recording needles out of the drum because of their violence.

Reports from Petersburg, Alaska, said that the Ketchikan-Wrangell cable had broken near Wrangell, where the shock was believed to be severe. Communication with Petersburg will not be restored until tomorrow.

SHOCKS IN ALASKA

The main shock was felt in Juneau at 7 a.m., followed by three lesser ones. Residents rushed from their houses in night clothing. Dishes rattled, light chandeliers rocked. Residents of the Niekerville residence section of Ketchikan reported feeling slight earth tremors about 9 a.m. of about the same intensity as tremors which rocked Alaska in February, 1925.

Cordova, Alaska, several hundred miles west and north of Juneau, reported pictures hanging on the walls swayed slightly, but the phenomenon was not identified as an earthquake. The residents of the eastern Alaska were received Seward, 125 miles west of Cordova, reported that the earthquake had not been felt there and that no reports of disturbances had been received from Western Alaska.

FAR AND WIDE

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—The Dominion Observatory today recorded one of the most severe earthquakes ever recorded here. The epicentre is believed by officials to be in Alaska.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—An earthquake, 2,300 miles away, described as "the largest in years," was recorded by the seismograph at Fordham University today. Officials there said the tremors were "tremendous." The seismograph record showed the first shocks at 10:08, Eastern standard time.

SASKATOON, Oct. 24.—Violent

earth shocks, starting at about 9 o'clock this morning and continuing for an unusually long period, were registered at the University of Saskatchewan seismograph here. Professor Harrington, in charge, declared he had never seen such remarkable vibrations in his instrument before. The disturbance, he thought, was somewhere in the Southwest.

Oak Bay Conservative Association Requests Former Premier to Define Political Status

KAMLOOPS STAND IS EMPHASIZED

Annual Meeting Elects Officers, Who Express Renewal of Loyalty to Dr. Tolmie

A well attended meeting of the Conservative Association of Oak Bay last evening for the purpose of electing officers for the year. A resolution was passed urging upon Mr. W. J. Bowser, former leader of the Conservative Party, to reiterate his valedictory address made at the Kamloops convention and thus put at rest the reports that the Liberal Party was spreading that there was an attempt to disrupt the provincial Conservative Party as led by Hon. S. F. Tolmie.

The resolution, which was proposed by Herbert Carmichael and seconded by Mr. Harold F. Hewlett, read as follows:

"Be it resolved that we, the Oak Bay Conservatives, deplore and regret that reports, rumors and propaganda have been circulated throughout the province representing that there is a serious division within the party in Victoria and locally, all of which is causing considerable harm to the party."

"We therefore would urge, in order to avoid any further misunderstanding or misrepresentation, that the Hon. W. J. Bowser reiterate his valedictory speech made at the Kamloops convention and thus put at rest the reports that there was an attempt to disrupt the provincial Conservative Party as led by Hon. S. F. Tolmie."

"The present state of armaments in Europe," he said, "is a breach of faith on the part of a nation which entered the war largely to uphold the sanctity of treaties." Mr. Lloyd George was the chief speaker at a meeting arranged by the League of Nations Union. The vast crowd filled the capacity of Queen's Hall and an overflow was held in the Ketchikan-Wrangell hall.

"Are there any dangers which threaten the peace of Europe?" the former Premier asked. "Yes, many and grave." The continental newspaper with disputes and outstanding differences which menace the peace of Europe. He went on: "There is a growing seal for arbitration, which led to such a remarkable demonstration by the smaller nations at the recent assembly of the League. They are genuinely frightened by the snarling sounds which disturb the nerves of Europe."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Mr. Lloyd George pointed out that when peace was framed in 1919, it was recognized that adjustments would be required later.

"That settlement," he continued, "left with only a few years to run, is now being smoothed out, are bound to irritate and inflame the cankers. The League of Nations alone can straighten out this situation."

"A League of Nations which excludes from its operations all questions that are inconvenient is in violation of the result of the war or later be fatal to the peace of Europe."

The great source of peril, the former Premier argued, comes from either too harsh an interpretation of treaties or failure to give an honest effort to the clauses in treaties which impose obligations on victorious nations.

FARMERS RACE AGAINST SNOW

DESPERATE EFFORT MADE TO THRESH PRAIRIE CROP BEFORE WINTER

More Than Eight Million Bushels Harvested by Farmers in Saskatchewan

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—In the most desperate race against winter ever waged by the farming population of the Prairies for the salvaging of the crop, marketing figures on the Canadian National soared beyond all previously recorded high levels Saturday. Threshers are going night and day. A total of 8,020,900 bushels of grain were hauled to the elevators.

Of this figure, 3,580,000 bushels were marketed on Canadian National lines, constituting a new high record for this season. Canadian Pacific lines failed to break their previous high record established Friday, but came within a hundred and some bushels of reaching the mark when a total of 4,440,900 bushels entered the elevators.

The number of cars loaded also constituted a record on the Canadian National system, 1,589 cars being loaded. The Canadian Pacific loadings totalled 2,090.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 24.—The following telegram was dispatched to Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson, Chicago, today by Mayor Trivelpiece of this city: "If Chicago has no use for the seven thousand volumes donated by the late Queen Victoria and prominent English citizens after the 1871 fire, the city of Hamilton, Canada, would be glad to take over the books."

Two Modernist Teachers

PROF. L. H. MARSHALL

BISHOP Barnes has been criticized chiefly for the language he has used in expressing his views on church sacraments. Professor Marshall has been attacked by "fundamentalists" in his church, who have endeavored to have him dismissed, because of his teaching that the theory of evolution is true and is not contrary to Christian belief.

TROTZKY GIVEN FINAL PENALTY

TO BE EXPELLED FROM MEMBERSHIP

MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—Leon Trotzky and Gregory Zinoviev, leading figures in Soviet Russia, will be expelled from the Central Committee of the Communist Party last evening in a communiqué issued after a joint plenary sitting of the Central Committee and Central Committee of the party.

After numerous denunciations, warnings and disciplinary measures, the presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist Party last June recommended the expulsion of Trotzky and Zinoviev from the Communist Party. They were accused of treasonable speeches and violation of the party discipline.

Ex-Minister in Rumania Plots Return of Carol

BUCHAREST, Oct. 24.—Government and palace circles were thrown into consternation today by the sudden arrest of M. Manolescu, Under Secretary of Finance in the Avescu cabinet. He is charged with plotting the restoration of former Crown Prince Carol to his rights to the throne.

It is said that a number of compromising documents and considerable correspondence with the disinherited prince was found in Manolescu's apartment. He has been incarcerated in the Jilava military prison. His arrest has caused a sensation throughout Rumania.

LAWYERS HALT LIBRARY FIRE

INJUNCTIONS ASKED AGAINST PROPOSED HOLOGRAPH IN CHICAGO

Mayor Not Censor of Literature Taxpayers Allowed to Read Act of Barbarism

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The frigate in which William Hale Thompson, Mayor of Chicago, has been sailing, today struck an uncharted reef. The mayor's threat to seek out and burn in a huge Lake Front bonfire every book in the library found to have any passageavoring of pro-British propaganda, ran afoul of two petitions for injunctions.

BARBARIC AND DESPOTIC One was filed by Edward J. Bohac, an attorney, who alleged the threatened destruction was without parallel except in ancient Alexandria, Constantinople and other places where irreparable injury and damage to civilization was wrought.

The other was filed by J. K. Elliott, also an attorney, who charged that Mayor Thompson is attempting to become a censor of the literature which citizens and tax payers should read.

The Bohac petition also asserted that U. G. "Sport" Herrmann, treasurer and library commissioner, former billposter and stagehand, is wholly incompetent and without sufficient knowledge to determine the character of books.

BULGARIAN BANDITS RENEW ACTIVITIES

BELGRADE, Oct. 24.—Despite martial law along the Bulgarian frontier, Bulgarian bandits renewed activities yesterday, twice attacking the Yugoslav villages, Gradsko and Pomoravlje. Several villages were exchanged between the bandits and troops after which the bandits escaped.

MR. BENNETT SOUNDS CALL TO CANADIANS

Ever-Increasing Responsibility Rests Upon All to Make Democratic Government Successful

PARTIES MERELY SERVE AS MEANS

Men Eagerly Offered Their Lives for Canada in Great War—Example Should Be Imitated in Peace

CALGARY, Oct. 24.—Sounding a note of warning to the Canadian people on the subject of democracy, Hon. Mr. Bennett, at a complimentary dinner in his honor here this evening, declared that the "place of democracy in the world is not yet secure."

The new leader was received with a tremendous ovation as he rose to speak. Democracy, he said, has been challenged by hundreds of thousands of people in Europe and Asia during the last five years, and this situation in turn throws a challenge to all the men and women of voting age in the Dominion. The only way is to have an educated democracy. His plea was for more leaders.

"So far as I am concerned all I can say is that there rests on us a great and ever-increasing responsibility; the formation of an informed and educated democracy. Parties are not ends but means to this high purpose."

EXAMPLE OF SOLDIERS

Mr. Bennett told of the struggle that went on in his mind before he decided to become a candidate for the leadership. On one side was the duty to the country, and on the other the duty to his family. He said that he had decided to follow the example of the soldiers who offered their lives for Canada, and I merely said to myself that if I can render home service I am in a position to do it. So here I am back again to say, as I said at the convention, that I dedicate my talents and my time to the service of Canada and to the service of my countrymen.

"If Canada is worthy for, surely it is worth living for," he concluded.

Cheering Crowds Throng Station and Streets—Alberta Leaders Give Welcome

CALGARY, Oct. 24.—Amid the cheers of friends and admirers of every creed and shade of political faith and from every class of society, Hon. R. B. Bennett, K.C., leader of the Federal Conservative Party, came home this afternoon.

Greeted first by his sister, Miss Mildred Bennett, and by A. Mc-Gillivray, M.P.P., leader of the Progressive Conservative party, Mr. Bennett stepped from the train to be engulfed in the enthusiasm of those assembled on the platform.

It is said that a number of compromising documents and considerable correspondence with the disinherited prince was found in Manolescu's apartment. He has been incarcerated in the Jilava military prison. His arrest has caused a sensation throughout Rumania.

Patrol Officers Who Didn't Stop

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 24.—Stopped by a hail of lead from the guns of United States customs patrol officers at 4:30 a.m. today on the Mount Baker Highway, when he is alleged to have disregarded flag signals, Edward B. Smith, thirty-five, of Seattle, is in the local hospital with his right foot shattered.

Miss L. Murphy, his companion in the car, thirty, is in the county jail. The shot which hit Smith tore the heels of her shoe. Smith and the woman, followed by a car driven by S. D. Cowan, Bellingham, were on their way from Canada with liquor, the officers say, and elected to speed past the officers when the shooting began. They were on their way from Canada with liquor, the officers say, and elected to speed past the officers when the shooting began. They were on their way from Canada with liquor, the officers say, and elected to speed past the officers when the shooting began.

Smith is likely to lose one foot.

MOORS' CAPTIVES WELL CARED FOR

French Men and Women Kidnapped in Morocco Discovered in Hands of Tribesmen

RABAT, Morocco, Oct. 24.—After a perilous journey through the desert of French Morocco, an emissary who went in search of Yves Steeg, nephew of Jules Steeg, Resident-General of French Morocco, Jean Maillet, a relative by marriage, and two women companions, who were kidnapped by tribesmen last week, returned bringing word back that the prisoners are safe and being well cared for.

The two women, captured with Steeg and Maillet, were Mme. Marie de Prokhor, wife of the manager of a transport company at Benimellal, and her mother, Baroness Steinheil, formerly of Vienna. They were seized while on a hunting trip. It was feared at first that the members of the party had been killed.

Neither the emissary nor the government officials to whom he reported, could say what demands the kidnappers had made for the release of the captives.

HUNGARY RENEWS ANTI-SEMITIC RIOTS

BUDAPEST, Oct. 24.—Anti-semitic riots were renewed today when university students maltreated many Jews, tearing the cloths from their backs, forcing them to show their credentials, and then expelling them from the university buildings. Proprietors of the National Theatre later announced the withdrawal of the play, "High Lady," the work of a Hebrew dramatist.

Vancouver Man Killed When Two Automobiles Collide on Yates Street

Mr. Frank Goodwin Shot Through Windshield to Pavement When His Car Hits Larger Motor and Rolls Over Twice—Companion Escapes With Severe Cuts About the Head

Mr. Augustus Schubert, Driver of Second Car, Survives Unscathed

Mr. Frank Goodwin, nineteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Goodwin, 1937 Gravely Street, Vancouver, B.C., who was spending a holiday in Victoria, is dead as the result of an automobile crash at Quadra and Yates Streets at 5 o'clock yesterday evening. Mr. Goodwin was hurled from his car to the pavement, his head was crushed, and he died within a few minutes.

According to the police report, the Ford, driven by Mr. Goodwin, was traveling west on Yates Street when he collided with an Oldsmobile car, No. 43,385, driven by Mr. Augustus Schubert, of Armstrong, B.C., who was traveling south along Quadra Street. Both cars met near the middle of the road.

GOES THROUGH WINDSHIELD The Ford caught the point of the front bumper of the Oldsmobile. The driver, Mr. Goodwin, was literally shot through the windshield by the impact. He landed on the asphalt pavement on his head. Mr. Schubert was also thrown from the car, but received only severe cuts about the face. The Ford was thrown up in the air, rolled over twice, then righted itself. Mr. Schubert came through the accident uninjured.

A large crowd gathered in the street as soon as passers-by heard the crash, which was audible three blocks away. Sergeant Heatley was soon on the scene, and with the aid of several constables brought about order, had the damaged cars removed to the curb and opened Yates Street to traffic within a few minutes.

DIES IN FIVE MINUTES

The first action of Sergeant Heatley was to call Dr. F. M. Bryant, who immediately ordered the injured man to the Jubilee Hospital. He died before he reached the hospital.

The Ford car was badly smashed. The framework around the windshield was wrenched away, the radiator bent in and the steering wheel broken in half. Little damage was done to the Oldsmobile car.

Mr. Seaton, who was driving with Mr. Goodwin, escaped a miraculous escape from death, for had he not been thrown from the car, it is probable that it would have crushed him as it rolled over. One side mark shows the desperate attempt made by Mr. Schubert to avoid the accident by turning away from it.

An inquest will be held probably Wednesday morning, Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart stated last night.

2. If said provisions be intra vires, has the minister authority to issue the license for the operation of a floating cannery as contemplated by a stationary cannery on land, and if so, is he entitled to make the license subject to any restrictions, particularly as to the place of operation of any cannery in British Columbia?

3. Under the provisions of the special fishery regulations for the Province of British Columbia, has (a) any British subject resident in the Province of British Columbia, or (b) any persons so resident who are not a British subject, upon application and tender of the prescribed fee, the right to receive a license to fish or operate a fish or salmon cannery in that province, or has the minister a discretionary authority to grant or refuse any such license to anyone whether he is a British subject or not?

Alberta Wheat Pool Will Ship Much Grain To Pacific This Year

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—Vancouver and Prince Rupert will export much more Alberta Wheat Pool grain this season than ever before, according to H. W. Wood, president of the Pool, who arrived in Vancouver this morning.

"There is no use trying to deceive ourselves as to the quality of grain this year," said Mr. Wood. "There is a large quantity of low grade grain, due to the long wet season, lack of sunshine and early frosts. The gross return to the farmers should be satisfactory, however. Alberta will have a heavy crop."

Airship Burns

TOKIO, Oct. 24.—The crew of the burned Japanese airship N-3, sister ship of the Norge, in which Raoul Amundsen flew over the North Pole, were stranded today on a small island. Because of the high seas prevailing, it was expected that their rescue would be difficult. The N-3 had been forced to land on the island by the bad weather and a lack of fuel. As soon as the crew left it, a gale swept it seaward. It exploded in midair and burst into flames.

BUY APPLES IS DEAN'S ADVICE

Dean F. M. Clement, in Addressing Gyros, Urges Support for Apple Industry in British Columbia

STRONG CONTINGENT GOING TO PORTLAND

"The whole idea of 'Apple Week' is to get people to buy apples. If we can get every person to eat another apple, it will mean much to the industry," declared Dean F. M. Clement, of the Department of Agriculture of the University of British Columbia, in addressing the Victoria Gyro Club yesterday at its weekly luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce Cafe. Among the guests present was Mr. W. H. Robertson, provincial horticulturist.

Dean Clement told the clubmen that the apple industry had grown as fast as the wheat, building up on other industry. He spoke of the changes which had overtaken the apple industry, and stated that it had been standardized. The number of varieties had been narrowed down, and apples were sold on a standard variety, and a standard pack.

EXPLAINS WHY

The speaker declared that so long as eighty-two per cent of men in any business were getting wages and interest that industry was stabilized and people were flowing into it. The idea was to get the apple industry to that point, he said. "Unless the men in the Okanagan sell their apples they will not have the money to buy from you," pointed out Dean Clement, in a plea for the support of the apple growers of the Okanagan district. Gyros, as well as other citizens, could do their part by eating more apples grown in British Columbia.

PRESS CLUB BALL

Announcement was made that the Victoria Press Club would hold a grand Halloween ball next Friday night at the Empress Hotel, commencing at 9 o'clock, and that the function would be the most ambitious event ever conducted under the Press Club auspices.

Gyro Harold Wilkinson informed the members that a strong contingent of local Gyros would attend the annual district Gyro convention, which will be held at Portland, Oregon, on November 3, 4 and 5. It is likely that ten Gyros will make up the group from Victoria.

Gyro George Wilkinson stated that the Gyros had been approached by the Kiwanians and Rotarians to enter a bowling league, and asked for the support of the club members in this connection. Gyro Bill Hudson said that the Gyros had entered a team in the City Basketball League, that it would hold its first practice on Thursday night, and he hoped all who had played on the team last year and any others interested, would be present at the workout.

Community singing, and enjoyable selections by the Gyro syncretists, under the direction of Gyro Charlie Hunt, rounded off the programme.

LIN ARRAIGNED ON DRUG COUNT

Chinaman Charged With Being in Possession of Opium Is Remanded Until Tomorrow

Lin, a Chinaman, was arraigned in the City Police Court yesterday before Mr. J. Hebdon Gillespie, J.P., on a charge of unlawfully being in possession of a narcotic drug. On October 23, City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison informed the court that an analysis of the drug would have to be made, and that Magistrate J. J. would likely be back by Wednesday, to which day the case was remanded. The accused, Lin, was arrested by Sergeant Thomas Heasley and Constable Samuel Strange at 9:45 p.m. on Sunday.

Ransom Offered

RABAT, Morocco, Oct. 24.—Crossing the deadline of "safe" territory, couriers of the French authorities have entered the mountain fastnesses of hostile tribesmen in the Atlas range, bearing offers of the French authorities to ransom members of the family of the French officer, General Suez, kidnapped last week. With the entrance of the couriers into the wild region where those kidnapped are believed to have been taken, a complete veil of obscurity has been lifted, and it is only by word of mouth through the Moroccan tribes that the ransom motive of the kidnapping was learned.

Legion Honors Captain

Upper—C.P. Montroyal, which carried the Legionnaires in war and peace. Lower—Section of Legionnaires photographed at Quebec before sailing for Paris recently. Inset—Captain H. Sibbons, R.N.R.

A SIGNAL honor has been conferred on Captain H. Sibbons, R.N.R., commander of the Canadian Pacific Montroyal, by the members of the American Legion who sailed 800 strong on his ship from England recently, after the gathering of the Legionnaires in Paris in September. On their voyage across the Atlantic to Quebec, R. J. Byers, Adjutant of the American Legion, department of Michigan, decorated Captain Sibbons with the American Legion official medal of the second A.E.F. Many of the Legionnaires who journeyed both ways on the Montroyal to attend the convention, were carried by this ship to France during the Great War and renewed their friendship with the popular commander. The majority of the Legionnaires on the peacetime journey to France were from the Middle West and West of the United States. In honoring Captain Sibbons with the official medal, Adjutant Byers said: "Captain Sibbons, an historic pilgrimage has been successfully held, and thousands of the best citizens of America, proven to be such in action, and proven again in their sincere desire to continue that good citizenship by promoting world peace through this pilgrimage, now have their faces turned homeward. They are conquerors, conquerors of friendship. You, sir, helped guide the first A.E.F. through danger-infested seas. You, sir, have again helped guide safely the second A.E.F. to a joyous conclusion. It was the comparatively few men of your calibre, men who have spent a lifetime on the great Atlantic, who made possible that first glorious victory over our allied countries. You, sir, are carrying on in peace-time, just as we are carrying on in the soldiers, sailors and marines—whom you have so safely carried across and back—first to war and then to peace. You are one of us; one of our trusted leaders; one on whom we depend, and who look care of us. Sir, I pin the American Legion Official Medal of the Second American Expeditionary Force on your breast. Only men of proven worth are permitted to have it. In due time, when we shall have completed our journey, a suitable accompanying citation will be forwarded to you. This is the service medal to be worn with your uniform on proper occasions."

PENSIONS NOT A DOLE

The new old age pensions scheme in Britain, to come into effect on January 1, does away with the idea that pensions are in the nature of a dole. It is to be an all-embracing system of legislation discontinuing the "means limit," which, as Mr. Stanley Baldwin says, has been regarded as a great blot on the system of old age pensions, and as well, the scheme is extended so as to give benefits to widows and orphans. In speaking of the new legislation Mr. Baldwin says: "The prolonged official inquiry, so harassing, so unkind to the deserving, the prevention of old people from taking any odd jobs, the fear that they would lose their pension, instead of being a charity, has become a right, and the Government has merely recognized in that legislation what the conscience of the nation has long approved. That is that it is a national duty to provide for the health of the nation and of the aged poor."

The above is quoted because it provides an object lesson to Canada, and were the British system to be put into effect here there would be no necessity, whatever, in this province, for the administration of old age pensions to be under the Workmen's Compensation Board. It could then be operated by the Government itself and there would be no inquiry into the process undertaken, a process which is particularly harassing to old people. The idea that the pension restricts activities of the aged would also be abolished. It would be payable to those who, by virtue of the fact that they are aged, come within its provisions, and no governmental limits regarding the right to work would be placed on their activities. Under the threat that the exercise of such right would forfeit their claim to the pension. There would be no limit placed on the means which they enjoy when applying for the pension. It would simply be a right into which they graduate by virtue of age and residence and would be regarded in no sense as a dole. What Britain is doing removes all the objectionable features of an old age pension system and in legislation of a type, far more advanced, and in some half-baked, as in the case with that which has just gone into effect in British Columbia.

THE BROAD HIGHWAY OF HEALTH

Sir Thomas Horder, the well-known British physician, has little or no sympathy for the dieting faddists who are tending more and more by their propaganda to make people's stomachs their gods. He does not conceive of a way of health as a tightrope, "along which we make a slow and trepidating progress." He refuses to believe that the least bias to this or that side means a plunge headlong into the abyss with its inflammations and ulcerations and cancer—especially cancer. Sir Thomas is of opinion that there is a broad highway to health, a well-paved road, and that nature is an excellent road-maker and an excellent road-mender. It requires but little skill and only a modicum of good fortune to stay on this broad highway. "The wayfarer man must be a fool indeed, if he errs therein."

Sir Thomas has been dubbed, and it would seem rightly, the Mark Tapley of medicine. In the realm of that science he holds society has a greater enemy than the man who kills joy in the man who kills confidence. For instance, in the matter of the controversy as to the rival merits of wholemeal and white bread he does not appear to think that either has any peculiar advantages over the other. He comes into conflict with the suggestion that the substitution of wholemeal for white bread by the whole nation "would result in such hygienic benefits as would amply compensate for the extra cost to the worker; to go further and promise that such substitution offered immunity from cancer and other diseases; these are claims which I decided, not without consideration, to challenge. I did so because I knew that both of these claims lack the support of science, whether our knowledge be derived from experiment or from experience."

His remarks on the idea embodied in the phrase, "The Secrets of Good Health," are both caustic and nothing. "Secrets, forsooth," he says. "As though good health were something mysterious. Regarding the matter driving his team, the sailor hauling on his rope, the smith working at his anvil; his physical fitness, far from being a mode of difficult and unnatural progression, or the result of initiation into a ritual, is the most spontaneous of all acquisitions. There is no 'struggling task' morality, no 'strife divine'; there is no effort on his brow, he does not strive, and does not weep. Yet no healthy society inquires what bread he eats, if he gets sufficient vitamins, and if he frequently washes his body. Why should it? Such curiosity could no more discover the secret of health than could the question, 'What peroxide had John Keats?' lay bare the mystery of a poet's soul." Sir Thomas thinks that the world is becoming bemused on the subject of diets, which is quite probable since thousands of faddists are offering different menus for its delectation. In brief, his advice is to give nature a chance and to travel the broad highway of health without undue thought about the dietary processes which are causing so much waste of time in the controversial field and leading too many people towards a waning confidence in the normal ways of health, which, in the past, were automatically pursued without the guidance of any dietetic expert.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

You may change the names of places, but you cannot change the significance of the names under which they were originally known, nor can you, by legislative acts, make the new names popular. Professor Alfred Phillips, in a recent number of The Contemporary Review, says many names famous in history have no longer an official existence, and he quotes as an instance the city of Laibach. The Congress of Laibach was one of the most important international conferences of the nineteenth century. Laibach, however, has been superseded as a place name by Ljubiana, unpronounceable by persons without a Slavist twist to their tongue. In the future this congress must be known as the Congress of Ljubiana.

Will historians of the future speak of Peter the Great as having founded Leningrad?

Many European countries, after the Great War, experienced an epidemic of name changes. The populace as a whole were quite content to let things alone. "What's in a name anyway?" was the common sentiment. Only the new rulers found any enthusiasm for the proposed changes; but the common sense of the people as a body was not adequate to repress the enthusiasm of the new politician. St. Petersburg was changed to Petrograd and Petrograd to Leningrad, but the Russians still speak of the city of Peter the Great as "Pete," and the Soviet Government found it necessary to issue an order that mail addressed to St. Petersburg be ignored, and only mail addressed to Leningrad be recognized. Czechoslovakia substituted Karlovy Vary for Karlsbad, but foreigners still go to Karlsbad and do not try to pronounce its official name, nor do dyspeptics ask for a dose of Karlovy Vary salts. Poland has not succeeded in having the world call Danzig, Ddansk, or accept Lwow for the old Galician town of Lemberg. On the other hand the Norwegian Government and people appear to have readily acquiesced in the change of the name of their beautiful capital from Christiania to Oslo; but in this instance the people have only reverted to an older name for Christiania itself. One of the first things that the Irish Free State did after the signing of the Treaty giving it its present status was to indulge in an orgy of place-name changes. Queenstown and Kingston have no official existence in the Free State. Queenstown is now Dun Laoghaire, and Kingston is Cobh. Dublin, the "fair city where girls are so pretty," is now Baile Atha Cliath—and this appears on letters postmarked from the Irish capital.

Historians in the end are sure to use the name a town or city had at the time of the event which gave it its special name. Thus, whatever time or fate may have in store for Victoria, "Victoria" it will be known as and written about in future ages even though it should achieve such development as to merit the name of "Grainopolis" or of "Picturalia" or "Touristville." It may be taken as axiomatic that the world will in the long run always stick to the name that its generation has known—and can pronounce.

A member of the British Labor Party accuses the Conservative Party of having "frittered away" the magnificent spirit which possessed the nation at the end of the war. It was not, however, the Conservative Party that was responsible for the policy which lost millions of working days to the British workmen. It did not promote the action of the Triple Alliance which brought about the General Strike, or the railway and coal strikes which have taken place in Britain during the last few years. Even these dire happenings, for which Labor was responsible, have not "frittered away" the spirit of the nation which is now recovering so rapidly from their effects and which could not recover if the spirit of overcoming those effects had been frittered away.

Words of Wisdom

Let every man be occupied in the highest ways of which his nature is capable, and die as the consciousness that he has done his best.—Sydney Smith.

Flowers seem intended for the solace of ordinary human beings. Children love them; quiet, tender, contented, ordinary people love them; they grow; luxurious and disorderly people rejoice in them; they are the cottager's treasure; and in the crowded and marked with a little broken fragment of rainbow, the window of the workers in whose heart rests the covenant of peace.—John Ruskin.

Life is not so short but that there is always time enough for courtesy.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

THE CHOICE

Life opened her two hands to me.
And said: "I'll let you peep and see;
Then make your choice—oh, carefully!"

"What sparkling things! Ah! let me hold
A moment all that gleaming gold!
'Tis very tender, so I'm told."

"What tender things! A dream of youth!
A helping hand—a friend, in truth,
And quiet ways—what then, forsooth?"

Life let her fingers fall apart,
And whispered: "Be the dream depart.
Choose. O my child, 'twixt brain and heart!"
—Gwen Nisbet, in The Royal Magazine.

Note and Comment

By R. E. D.

If you have read one of the books worth reading and have not devoted all your spare time in reading books which appear to have been written for the purpose of proving that man was not created a little lower than the angels but a great deal lower than the brutes, doubtless you have read the parable of the mustard seed. The mustard seed of the parable was a seed of extraordinary fecundity; but the productivity of a grain of mustard was not a matter of particular importance to humanity. The fecundity of a grain of wheat is a matter of vital importance to humanity, for the product of wheat is the staff of human life, and the by-products of wheat help to sustain life in many of the domestic animals which are essential to the sustenance and maintenance of human life.

A few days ago we read in one of the Canadian newspapers that a comparatively few years ago there were about eighteen grains of Marquis wheat in Canada and none in any other parts of the world. This year about four hundred millions of bushels of wheat will be thrashed and marketed in the Prairie Provinces of Canada, and a large proportion of that bountiful harvest of grain will be wheat grown from the eighteen grains of Marquis wheat which were originally selected and patiently developed from probably one grain of wheat.

The man who makes one blade of grass grow where not a single blade of grass grew before is said to be one of the greatest of public benefactors. The men who have developed a variety of the wheat species that will grow abundantly and ripen quickly when planted in the soil of the northwestern parts of Canada probably have done as much for their country as the men who fought for a time their political ambitions and suppressed their political prejudices for the purpose of establishing the foundations of the Dominion.

Canada is no longer a narrow fringe of country lying to the north of the international boundary line. Its longitudinal dimensions have not changed, but its latitudinal proportions have been extended practically to the region of the aurora borealis. It is producing wheat of the finest quality on a limited scale in the boundless Peace River country, and the northern lights are helping the long summer sun to ripen that wheat. In a few years it will be producing wheat of the finest quality in unlimited quantities. That may be merely a dream, but it is one of the dreams that is likely to "come true," and when the world at large is convinced of its truth Canada will soon have an abundant population as well as an abundance of wheat and other agricultural products.

We do not know this General Sutton who says he is going to build a railway into the practically undiscovered part of Canada, for he seems to have appeared in a night like a mushroom. He may be merely a dreamer of dreams, or he may be a man of exceptional vision and ample resources. He certainly appears to be a man of extraordinary energy and dauntless courage. His railway scheme may come to naught; but if the Peace River country is what it is represented to be it will be connected with the outside world by some effective means of transportation. We rather think the two great Canadian railway companies, in co-operation with the Dominion and Provincial Governments, are assured that the men on the land who have gone in and spled out the land are not also merely dreamers of dreams. The point of interest to the people of the West is that the great and rich Peace River country is what is called "a natural business adjunct" of the Pacific Coast. If all the talk about the marvellous natural wealth of that part of Canada is merely political chatter uttered for the purpose of influencing pending elections, then the matter will assume an altogether different aspect.

Turkey, the newest republic established on the foundations of an ancient theocracy, is already being afflicted with one of the pains and penalties which long have afflicted older and more firmly established republics and democracies. Kemal Pasha, the head of the newly established Turkish Republic, has delivered an address to the Turkish Popular Assembly. The speech of Kemal lasted for eight days, and would have lasted longer if the tongue of the orator had not become parched and clung to the roof of his mouth. The speaker broke down, and we do not wonder at that. His hearers broke down towards the end of the speech, and still less do we wonder at that. Strong men wept, and if there are any women in the Turkish National and Popular Assembly, we are sure they not only wept but "clapped their babies convulsively to their bosoms." If they had any babies to clasp convulsively—for it is not a custom of political women in modern republics and democracies to clasp themselves with such vulgar and bothersome creatures as babies.

HARASSING LOCAL INVESTMENT

Sir—May I be permitted the hospitality of your columns to refer to the editorial in your Sunday's issue under the above heading? While giving due praise to the efforts of the promoters of the Beach Hotel, your article appears to entirely ignore the interests of property owners, particularly resident owners, in the immediate neighborhood of the suggested site. Surely they have a prior claim on the consideration of the Oak Bay Council. To have a large garage as the main view from the house, year in year out, is surely a calamity from which they may confidently seek for the council's protection. Furthermore, the erection of the garage would greatly depreciate the value of property in the vicinity and deprive residents of the quietude so highly appreciated in residential districts. Is it not a fact that the only residents of contiguous property who have not objected to the proposed hotel (on its own land) really interfere with the view from the main veranda? Is not the land there so much lower than that of the proposed hotel or detract from the view? On the contrary, were the building given a flat roof, an attractive roof garden being easily handled, the risk of exposure to spray or the waves of high seas can be dismissed as unworthy of any consideration.

AUTO INSURANCE

Sir—I noticed in Thursday's Colonist that the B. C. Union of Municipalities suggests compulsory insurance by auto drivers and owners. I would like to ask if insurance would prevent a reckless driver from having an accident or make a careless driver into a careful operator of a motor car? Personally I think the very opposite would be the result. A person with his house covered by insurance would probably not be quite so careful as one not insured at all. If that house was on fire he might say, "Well, why worry? It is insured anyway." I think that rule will apply to the careless and reckless drivers of motor vehicles. I believe red motor licence plates on a car's back and front, after a driver has been fined for driving to the common danger, would soon put a stop to furious driving.

PYRAMIDAL PROPHECY

Sir—In "Notes and Comments," by R. E. D., in Wednesday's issue of The Colonist, the writer says, referring to the Great Pyramid: "These dates are recorded on one of the stones inside the Great Pyramid of Egypt." I would like to be informed if this is correct and from what source it is derived. My reason for asking is that I understand from the two great pyramid scholars, Plazid Smyth and Davidson, that there are no writings or hieroglyphs of any description inside the Great Pyramid of Gizeh, although they are to be found on the exterior of the pyramids, which are of later date.

Those who have studied this oldest and greatest wonder of the ages are still puzzled as to the meaning of astronomy, geometry and Biblical prophecy. I am sure it would well repay anyone to investigate for themselves, for the records and prophecies to be found in the library, this interesting subject.

REEVE ANSCOMB'S VIEWPOINT

Sir—Your editorial yesterday morning entitled "Harassing Local Investment" was a masterpiece. While the writer appreciates to the full the fine spirit of good will your valuable paper has always shown towards the community, and the fact that you will not, I am sure, take exception to the real facts of the issue being placed before you, facts which you were apparently not aware of when writing your editorial.

Some months ago Mr. Merston approached the Oak Bay Council with request for a permit to construct an hotel on the site he is now occupying. Immediately the application was made a protest was lodged by the surrounding property owners. The Council at that time had no power to refuse the permit. The Oak Bay Zoning Bylaw, under the provisions of the Town Planning Act, was not in force and there was no prospect of bringing it into operation within sixty days (legal time limit under the Act) of the request for a permit. Had the power to prohibit the issuance of the permit been given to the council, doubt whether, in view of the local opposition, it would ever have been issued. What, then, was the result? Mr. Merston goes ahead, builds his hotel over the entire width of his property, leaving no room on either side for any other consideration, and then calmly implies "I shall place the undesirable portion of my business next to someone else, far enough away that the accident would be welcomed by every decent driver. Painting crossings is a successful example of compelling all to become instantly aware of the danger." The yearly toll on human life is diminished if work on similar lines is continued, but if pastefamilias has to face a yearly super tax on the cheap but efficient car then, as the Old Colony has lately discovered, economic system of the town we could make no progress and labor would be entirely lost. But you are misinformed as to the source of the funds in this particular case. Mr. Merston, when applying for the permit in the first instance, distinctly advised the Board that the capital was coming from England through the local branch of one of our best-known trust companies. His only object in advising us of this condition was to place upon the land was about due to expire and he desired our permission at once in order to secure the necessary funds to take up the option. The explanation is only necessary in view of your stressing the point that local capital only is involved.

When the first application was made for the hotel permit the garage situation was clearly pointed out to Mr. Merston, and the impossibility of placing a garage close to the front of his premises made clear from his own plans. He then advised us that he proposed to make arrangements with the present Oak Bay Garage to take care of his requirements in the same way that Mr. Virtue, of the Oak Bay Hotel, does now and has done for years.

Ordinary business acumen should have been exercised by Mr. Merston and he should have realized that his plans were so drawn as to allow the garage facilities to be where they were most suitable, provided he did not intend to use those he had first agreed to do.

Your argument that the site suggested by the authorities is not a good one owing to the lack of fire-fighting facilities is just another of the points that we placed before Mr. Merston when his plans were first submitted. At that time we pointed out that the garage space should be left on each side of his building and between the lot lines to allow of fire hose and other equipment being easily handled, and for no other reason than the protection of the water side of the hotel itself. Our suggestion went unheeded, and I would again point out that the Zoning Bylaw under the Town Planning Act was not in force. Had it been, I think the permit on that ground alone would have been refused.

Your inference that the garage, if put on the hotel site, would be an eyesore to the hotel guests might possibly, at first, be well taken. If so, would it not be equally as great an eyesore to the adjoining expensive homes if it were placed on some other property? Is it not also well to remember that the people with homes are permanent residents and would, in consequence, have a perpetual eyesore, while the guests at the hotel, or most of them, would be transients. To use Mr. Merston's own argument: He tells us that it will be architecturally beautiful. If so, why should it not be on his own property and he and his guests, in consequence, receive the benefit?

The criticism advanced that the spray from the sea would be a detriment is absurd. Already there is a suggestion of a residence being constructed immediately below the suggested garage site and closer to the sea.

At no point in your zeal to protect the $100,000 investment of the hotel company do you give any consideration to the sums invested in large homes—amounting in the aggregate to very much more than the hotel—in the immediate vicinity. Investments made in good faith and certainly with no idea that storage garages would be erected close to them.

The garage, if placed on or close to the rear of the hotel, can be extremely attractive if designed right. In fact there is no reason why the roof should not provide accommodation for an open air or closed tea and main garden for the use of not only the residents of the hotel but local people as well during both the Summer and Winter months. And it can be built so far below the hotel proper that the view from the main building could in no way be obstructed.

I would also draw your attention to the fact that Mr. Merston first asked for, and distinctly advised me personally, that he required a forty-car garage. Now, when opposition develops, it is reduced to twenty Why?

This so-called controversy clearly demonstrates how necessary it is to bring into effect the zoning clauses of the Town Planning Act in order to preserve for all time the investments of all classes of people and property, and not only that of the Beach Hotel Company.

I am satisfied that had all these details been in your possession your editorial would not have been written. It is to be regretted that the matter was apparently so lightly considered by Mr. Merston in the first place, especially in view of the fact that he has evidently induced such a large amount of outside capital to be invested.

The above is written in no way as an official statement, as the members of the Council have not finally passed on the matter. It is only an expression of my own opinion in answer to your editorial, being, as I am, in possession of all the facts.

H. ANSCOMB,
Municipal Hall, Oak Bay, B.C.,

INSURANCE OF MOTOR DRIVERS

Sir—The suggestion that every licensed motor driver should carry compulsory public liability insurance is still being put forward, the inevitable plea being that it is the sovereign cure for accidents, in which, of course, the motorist is always to blame. No mention is made of the expectancy to wealth of certain insurance companies. In plain words, this means an insurance drive, a contemporary of Carpet Week or July Sale, etc. The implied insinuation to the Government on issuing licences to unreliable people is obvious. This threatened addition to the motor tax, if successfully carried by the Union of B. C. Municipalities, might indeed have the reverse effect sought for and make the reckless, when insured, utterly reckless in their pursuit of human prey and maybe foster what appears to be an already prevailing form of suicide on the part of the pedestrian.

Any movement to increase the vigilance of the pedestrian and oblige away from accidents would be welcomed by every decent driver. Painting crossings is a successful example of compelling all to become instantly aware of the danger. The yearly toll on human life is diminished if work on similar lines is continued, but if pastefamilias has to face a yearly super tax on the cheap but efficient car then, as the Old Colony has lately discovered,

Sir Donald Mann

Favors Route to Portland Canal

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—The shortest and best route into the Peace River country is from Portland Canal directly into the heart of the Dominion Government block and it should be built by one of the big transportation companies. This is the opinion expressed by Sir Donald Mann, builder of the Canadian Northern and other Canadian roads, who is spending a few days in Vancouver. "Such a road," declared Sir Donald, "would be what is known as a ladder route and would not only give a coastal outlet to the Peace River country but would be of immense help in opening up all of Northern British Columbia. The shortest route to the sea is always the best route, and the cost of building the Portland Canal line would not be proportionately greater than connecting up with the P.G.E. In addition, the Portland Canal route would be a great deal shorter."

City Will Oppose Any Change in Library Act

Alderman Marchant Carries Out Investigation Showing How Victoria Bears Burden of Adjoining Municipalities

As the result of a report brought in by Alderman Marchant, chairman of the Library Committee, the City Council has instructed Solicitor H. S. Pringle to write to the Municipal Committee of the Provincial Legislature stating the city's opposition to the change in the Libraries Act as proposed by Oak Bay at the convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities. Alderman Marchant in his statement showed how inconsistent the amendment of the act would be with other changes for other public services, and also showed how Victoria was bearing more than a full share of her burden of library cost. The amendment to the Libraries Act as recommended by the Union was that residents of a municipality outside of the city but who were property holders in the city be given free library service. At first the Union endorsed this amendment, but on recommendation left it to the discretion of the executive after it had heard the case from both the city and Oak Bay's viewpoints.

Alderman Marchant was commended by Mayor Penderay and the Council for the investigation he had carried out and copies of his statement will be sent to each member of the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities and to the Municipal Committee of the Provincial Legislature.

STATEMENT IN PART
The following is Alderman Marchant's statement in part:
"The proposal does not seem a very unfair one. If a person pays taxes in a municipality, he is allowed to vote, and should therefore claim all its civic services and privileges. A little reflection will show the very opposite the true conception. If this

REASON SEEN
The reason for the application of Oak Bay is not far to seek. For some years the library board has urged the three neighboring municipalities to enlarge their contributions upon a per capita population basis, and the second upon a taxable basis. The second is by far the fairer. Why should the citizens of Victoria pay a mill rate for a library enjoyed in common by the four municipalities, greater than the other three?
"The Library Act assumes that a library shall be supported by taxes levied upon the community, and indeed the Carnegie grant of $53,000 expressly provides that the City of Victoria shall maintain it as a free public library.

MAKES COMPARISON
"Besides this, it is reasonable that the municipalities, which tax their citizens much less than Victoria can, should escape their just share of library burdens. Here is the comparison:

	Land	Improve.	Mill
Victoria	100%	30%	38 mills
Oak Bay	100%	30%	18 mills
Saanich	100%	15%	30 mills
Esquimalt	100%	25%	35 mills

"Is there any just reason why each municipality should not impose a similar rate for library purposes? I frankly state that the Library Board does consider that Saanich and Esquimalt have perhaps a fair plea for better terms and is prepared to meet the situation. Saanich, for instance, has a rural population, many of which reside so far distant from the library that their demand for service is negligible. Esquimalt also has a non-taxable federal community which uses the library, and reasonably asks for consideration of this claim.

"But these considerations do not apply to Oak Bay, which is as favorably situated for library service as the citizens of Victoria.
"The total cost of the library for the year 1926 amounted to $23,191.71. The municipalities paid as follows on the basis of borrowers:

	Victoria	Oak Bay	Esquimalt	Saanich
	119,317	11,314	14,325	1,000

"On the basis of population, the contribution would be:

AMERICAN GREEN CROSS EXPLAINED

Mr. F. H. Cowles, of Los Angeles, Comes to Press Co-operation in Forestry Preservation

In the interests of the American Green Cross, an organization to save the forests, Mr. Frederick H. Cowles was a visitor to the city last week, en route to Vancouver, where he is interesting forest organizations in his effort to preserve the standing timber of the North American continent.

This association has, during the past five years, under its former appellation of the American Reforestation Association, rendered a great service to California and other sections of the United States. It operates a research department, a speakers' bureau, an advertising department, and distribution of books.

It plans to carry out a nationwide educational programme on lines similar to the Canadian Forestry Association. Mr. Cowles, who is chairman of the Fire Prevention Committee, has headquarters in Los Angeles.

The acreage of forest lands in the United States, which was 800,000,000 in 1878, has declined to 197,000,000 in 1924. Mr. Cowles says, and in the last three years has fallen below the 100,000,000 mark. While in 1924 five and a half million acres was cut in lumbering, twenty-two million acres was burned, and only 36,420 acres planted.

"So you and Dick don't speak now?"
"No; we had a dreadful quarrel about who loved the other most."

MR. PAULINE INVESTS HERE

Is Satisfied That Worst Mill Project Is One of Victoria's Best Opportunities

SUBSCRIPTIONS ARE SOLICITED

Prior to his departure for London, England, Mr. F. A. Pauline, Agent-General of British Columbia in England, addressed the City Council at last night's meeting on the worst mill project, which is being negotiated for by this city.

He told of having seen the mill of Mr. John Moore, of Bradford, England, and that he hoped to see it shortly transferred to Victoria. It would be a valuable acquisition to this city because at the outset it would employ 100 young people. Of the four industrial projects taken up by the city it was by far the best of the four. His only regret was that the by-law on the worst mill had not been placed before the city at the same time as the others.

Touching on Mr. Moore's report to the Council after having investigated marketing conditions here, Mr. Pauline said that the estimated profits were much below those justified on the present market. Actual investigation showed that the market estimated by Mr. Moore was only half of what there actually was in the province.

Mr. Pauline referred to the successful establishment of weaving industries in Vancouver and the expansion of the business that was being undertaken. Mr. Moore, he said, had already received large orders from the Universal Knitting Company and other companies for yarns from his mill.

Mr. Moore, he said, was prepared to invest $40,000 in the worst mill, which was a very substantial sum for any man to invest. Mr. Pauline had helped in the establishment of many industries in this province, and he felt that Victoria should not let this splendid opportunity pass by. Alderman James, in thanking Mr. Pauline for his talk to the Council, for the work that Mr. Pauline had done in encouraging and securing details for the industry in the city, said that Mr. Pauline was so satisfied with the success of a considerable portion of his own money in the enterprise.

A committee will be formed to solicit private subscriptions toward the $100,000 capital necessary before the by-law is placed before the people, under which, if passed, the city will guarantee $150,000 in bonds for the project. Mr. Moore has already put up $40,000. Mr. Pauline has subscribed toward the project, as also have several other citizens.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 24.—The killing of two wolves with one shot is the proud record of John Kubuck, an Indian of Sibley township. Getting sight of the animals, Kubuck waited until they trotted along a bush trail together, and fired. The bullet passed through both animals.

"What sort of reception did you give you when you got home?"
"She threw flowers at me."
"Good gracious! How did you get that black eye, then?"
"She neglected to take the flowers out of the pot!"

NEW LAND OFFICE

The land committee of the City Council recommended to last night's meeting of the council that the present office of the land commission be moved to a more central location in the city. While the report met with some favor it was felt that the committee should first ascertain the rental and other expenses attached to maintaining an office on the main thoroughfares of the downtown section.

SAFETY ZONE BY-LAW
The by-law calling for safety zones around street cars, and prohibiting of parking in the traffic channels caused by those zones, was introduced to the Council at last night's meeting. A study of the by-law will be given by the aldermen before it is read in committee at the next meeting of the Council.

SUPERANNUATION
The staff of the Victoria Public Library submitted a petition to last night's meeting of the Council asking that the staff be included in the scheme approved by the Council. Legal opinion will be sought on the question of whether the library staff is eligible to the pension.

ELEVATOR PLANS
Plans of the Panama Pacific Grain Terminal, Limited, elevator as revised by C. D. Howe & Company, engineers for the city, were approved by the City Council last night. It was explained by City Solicitor H. S. Pringle that the company could go ahead with certain preliminary work, but the contract for the construction of the elevator could not be entered into until the plans were finally completed.

TELEPHONE RATES
Alderman J. Clearhue informed the City Council at last night's meeting that his committee had not prepared a case to present to the Railway Commission on lower telephone rates because the Union of B.C. Municipalities was taking action on behalf of all the municipalities.

City Hall Activities in Brief

MANY VOTERS REGISTER

As a result of the special effort made by the city to secure the registration of everyone who is qualified to vote at the next civic election, registrations have been coming in fast at the City Hall during the last few days. Up to the present, 1,047 people have registered on the voters' list as compared with 500 for the same period last year. At this week the city clerk's office will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. to take registrations, in addition to the usual business hours. On Saturday the office will be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., while on Monday the registration list will close at 5 p.m. All those who are entitled to vote are advised to get on the voters' list before the end of this month, as the list will then be closed.

COURT OF REVISION

The City Court of Revision on assessments is nearing the end of its work. Probably the last session of the court will be held this morning at 10 o'clock, when a tour of properties in respect of which appeals have been received, will be made in committee at the next meeting of the Council.

Fishing Good—Information has been received at the Publicity Bureau that sea trout are now running well in the Sooke River, some large catches being reported over the week-end.

Raspberries in Fruit—A quantity of ripe and well-flavored raspberries has been brought to The Colonist office by Mr. J. Reid, 3034 Albina Street, Saanich.

Member of House Here—Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hepburn, of St. Thomas, Ont., were visitors to the city yesterday with Mr. R. A. Bainbridge, engineer of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, on a tour of inspection over the lines of the E. & N. Railway.

Radio Starts Fire—A fire which did slight damage to the home of Mrs. Jenny I. Douglas, of 435 Niagara Street, Sunday night, is believed to have been started by the aerial wire of the radio connecting with electric wires leading to the house, thus causing a short circuit.

Moderator May Visit—Word has just been received that Rev. James Endicott, D.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada, will probably visit Victoria about November 29. Much interest is attached to his visit, as during the past twelve months the Moderator has made a trip round the world, and will in all probability address a public meeting while in the city.

Fireworks Prohibited—With the approach of the Halloween season, Fire Chief Stewart issued a warning yesterday that the by-laws governing the sale or use of fireworks were to be strictly enforced. No fireworks are permitted to be set off within the limits of Victoria, while the sale of fireworks to children under the age of sixteen is also prohibited.

Parents Object—The Saanich School Board are at present considering the daily transportation of fifty of the smallest children now attending Cloverdale School to Lake Hill School, as an alternative to spending $150 on installation of indirect lighting in the two lower floor rooms at Cloverdale, as recommended by the schools medical officer, Dr. Berman. Considerable opposition to the plan is being offered by parents affected.

Telephoning to Okanagan—Tests were made yesterday of direct communication over the B.C. Telephone Company's lines from Vancouver to Vernon by way of Kamloops from the Victoria office, but it was not a complete success, as apparently some adjustments have to be made before the voice carries clearly. This is a copper circuit, eighty-four miles long, and travels on both Canadian Pacific and Canadian National poles. There will be no subscribers between Kamloops and Vernon. The first use of the line was made Friday, but, as is usually the case with new services, minor changes to amplify sound are essential.

A Paradox

A Modern Jewelry Store and an Old-Fashioned Jewelry Store in One Is a Paradox

With our up-to-date assortment of diamonds, jewelry, watches, silver, clocks, novelties, etc., at a reasonable price, we have in every sense a

Modern Jewelry Store

We are also very proud of the fact that ours is an old-fashioned jewelry store, in the sense that the old-time friendship and courtesy is extended by the sales staff to all our customers, many of whom have dealt with us since the beginning of our business career in Victoria, when the parents select their presents for the children and the children for the parents. It is a great deal of satisfaction to cater to the young people's wedding requirements. Some of those young people entered our store in their parents' arms.

The fair dealing and the determination to stand by quality has held them and their families for a generation.

Our original intention of making this store "The House of Quality" for Victoria has never faltered, and today through that policy we enjoy the confidence of the buying public of the Island.

When the gift box containing an article bears the name "Whitney," the recipient knows at a glance it means quality.

Art Exhibition Is to Open Here Today

Exceptionally Interesting Collection of Paintings and Handicraft to Be Formally Opened by Lieutenant-Governor

On Saturday afternoon a zealous group of Island Arts and Crafts members was busy at the Belmont Building putting the finishing touches to the exhibition of paintings and handicrafts which is to be formally opened at three o'clock this afternoon by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

The exhibition is an increasing credit to the association year after year, and this year more than ever will be found a liberal tendency to include examples of every school and group of art and craftsman. In the paintings, particularly, will be found a notable increase in the interpretative quality. Without this artists might as well not exist, leaving their work to the simpler methods of colored photography. Just in proportion as they fail to interpret will they fail to attract, particularly in these days of artistic camera studies.

The collection this year numbers ninety oils and 195 water colors, pastels and black and white. Moving about the exhibition, one comes across the names of several outstanding artists, among them Messrs. F. H. Varley and Charles Scott, of the Vancouver School of Art; Mr. W. B. Weston, instructor of drawing in the Vancouver Normal School; and Miss Margaret Carrick, a Calgary artist. Mrs. C. R. Hodgins, an exhibitor at the Royal Academy, London, has entered a case of miniatures which will arrest attention both by virtue of the extraordinarily fine quality of her work and the fact that she is a new exhibitor. Miss Jean Donald, one of the younger exhibitors, whose pictures three or four years ago suggested great promise, has returned after a year's study abroad with a greatly improved technique and maturity of treatment in several charming things. There are several examples of the newer Canadian school of art which attracted so much notice at Wembley Exhibition.

MONTREAL DISPLAY

Everyone should make a special effort to visit the collection of handicrafts sent from Montreal. It includes hook rugs, basketry, patch quilts, etc., of exceptionally fine character. The entry of handicrafts from Vancouver Island workers is also quite up to its best standards, with several choice examples of knitted Afghans entered by members of the Victoria Women's Institute; pottery made from Vancouver Island clays and using Indian designs; very fine needlework panels, screens, etc.

SKATING CLUB TO INCREASE LIST

To Have Three Sessions Weekly Throughout the Four Months of Skating Season

With the opening of the Arena only two weeks away, many new members have been enrolled in the Victoria Skating Club. The members of this club whose pleasure lies in the direction of figure skating and walking, find that the arrangements made with the Arena officials, whereby the rink is exclusively reserved for the club three times a week, afford them excellent opportunities for their particular form of pleasure. Many beginners in skating also appreciate the freedom of movement which club membership insures them, as the rink is large enough to provide ample room for skaters of every degree and skill.

Arrangements have been made with the Arena management to reserve the rink three times a week throughout the four months' season, new ice being provided for each session. The hours will be, on Mondays, 5 and 7; Wednesdays, 8:15 to 10:30; and Saturdays, 1 to 3. Members under eighteen are equally welcome with their seniors and are allowed a reduction on the already modest membership fee.

Five thousand dollars is the second international award, Mr. McLean said. Other international prizes are: Third, $2,000; fourth, $1,250; fifth, $1,000; sixth, $700; seventh, $500; eighth, $400; ninth, $250; and tenth, $100.

In addition, there will be ten cash prizes for winners in Canada. These are: First prize, $225; second, $125; third, $100; fourth, $50; fifth, $35; sixth, $25; seventh, $20; eighth, $10; ninth, $5; and tenth, $5.

Twelve thousand persons will receive honorable mention awards entitling them to a $2 credit for work on a modern power laundry.

"Any woman in this city and surrounding territory is eligible to enter this contest," said Mr. McLean. "I hope that one of our fine women here will win the $10,000. We will do all we can to help her."

"All that is necessary is to write a 300-word letter giving the best reasons the writer can think of on the subject, 'Why the Laundry Should Do My Washing,' and mail it to the $50,000 Competition Judges, Century Building, Indianapolis, Indiana, not later than midnight of December 1."

Saanich Conservatives To Welcome Delegates

The Conservatives of Saanich have a busy week ahead. In addition to the ward meeting at Royal Oak tomorrow evening, it has been arranged that the District Association shall tender a reception to Mr. W. O. Wallace, of Brentwood, who represented the district at the National Convention of the Conservatives in Winnipeg, on Saturday evening.

Premier Duke Fails On Examination

THE young Duke of Norfolk, premier duke and hereditary earl marshal of England, has failed to pass the qualifying entrance examination for entrance to Oxford University. The duke, who is nineteen, has never been to school, having been instructed by a private tutor since early boyhood. He succeeded his father as the sixteenth Duke of Norfolk in 1917, inheriting an estate of about 49,900 acres. The dukedom was created in 1483.

Mr. Wallace will be asked to address the gathering on the convention, and this will be followed by dancing and the serving of refreshments during the evening.

Hon. S. P. Tolmie will address the meeting of the Ward Five Saanich Conservatives at Royal Oak Hall, Royal Oak, on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. A short address will also be given by Hon. T. G. Coventry, M.P. A musical programme has been arranged to be followed by dancing. Refreshments will also be served.

PROGRAMME GOES OVER WITH A BANG

Snappy Vaudeville Offsets Pathos and Comedy of "Chinese Parrot" Film at Capitol

"One of the greatest combinations of melodrama, pathos and comedy ever told in a screen version of any story," was the general comment of the public that witnessed the premier showing of "The Chinese Parrot," the Universal Jewel, which opened at the Capitol Theatre here last night. The action of the story takes place on the tropical shores of Honolulu, and Majave Desert, and in San Francisco's Chinatown, and contains one of the most bizarre mystery plots ever filmed. The Chinese dives are exceptionally well done and the characterizations in these scenes are perfect.

Among the vaudeville attractions being offered on the stage this week, the management has included the Australian La Meris, in a distinctly novel innovation, which embraces singing, imitations, pianologues, and very clever whistling. These two artists have traveled all over the world with this sketch and have been received extremely well. Victorians will no doubt find them very entertaining. Others on this week's programme include Miss Merle North, a dainty, charming mezzo-soprano, who will be heard in several song selections, and the Iris Sisters, a clever comedy dance team will introduce to Capitol patrons some new and novel dance steps, and also some very smart comedy.

PLAYHOUSE "The Stolen Bride," a First National picture, is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre in which Lloyd Hughes plays opposite Billie Dove, star of the production. "The Stolen Bride" gives Hughes a chance to escape being "typically American." He portrays a young Hungarian who returns to his native land in pursuit of his sweetheart only to discover, when he steps across the border, that he cannot depart until he had served his allotted three years in the army under the compulsory military service system. The story is a comedy-drama, staged with an eye for color and the atmosphere of a most picturesque country in the day before the World War, and his part gives Hughes opportunity for a characterization that is out of the ordinary.

COLISEUM The opening performance at the Coliseum last night was a decided success. The vaudeville bill went over with a bang. Leighton Winters, the boy soprano, was one of the high lights of the bill, as was Madge McCowan, a pupil of Nicholas Rusanoff, who charmed the audience with her graceful dancing. Miss McCowan is a former pupil of Nicholas Rusanoff and has left the Mainland to sojourn in Victoria in order to continue her studies under him in the Russian Ballet School of Dancing. A dramatic sketch entitled "Moonlight and You," was also a great hit. In the cast are Eileen Allwood, George Durham, Beverly Fyfe and Peggy Charles. The libretto was written and the sketch directed by Walter Earl, and the melody composed by E. Spencer. On the screen is "Open All Night," Jetta Goudal, Viola Dana, Adolphe Menjou and Raymond Griffith are featured in the cast, which also includes Maurice B. ("Lefty") Flynn, Gale Henry and a number of others.

COLUMBIA "The Speeding Venus," a thrilling melodrama starring Priscilla Dean, will be shown at the Columbia Theatre today and tomorrow. Robert Frazer, Dale Fuller, Ray Ripley, Johnny Fox and Charles Selton are in the supporting cast. The story deals with a pretty American girl who races across the continent to outwit a scoundrel and accomplishes her purpose fully. "The Blue Streak," an infectious action picture with the strong flavor of burlesque that makes nearly all of Richard Talmadge's productions distinctive, is also showing at the Columbia Theatre. This offering tops all of Mr. Talmadge's predecessors, as the Woolworth Building shows the famous old Tumbledown Shack of Atholene, and that's a rather large order. But this is no bad thing, for it is none other than a press representative—than whom there is no more careful or conservative citizen in purveying truth and vital statistics to the public.

JOHN BARRYMORE DISPLAYS TALENT
Together With Dolores Costello Appears in Feature at Dominion This Week

In most of the arts, the finished product is the work of one individual. In motion pictures it is the work of many. Before a single set for the monumental "When a Man Loves," showing at the Dominion Theatre, was designed, research experts delved into the history and literature of the times of Louis XV of France which is the period of the story.

The costumes are faithful reproductions of originals obtained from the French State Museum. Twenty-four costumes of the period were borrowed from the French Government. Warner Bros. posting a bond of $24,000 as a guaranty of their safe return.

The marvelous photography is accounted for by the artistry of Mr. Byron Haskin, who also filmed "The Sea Hawk," and "Don Juan."

So authentic is the atmosphere in which the characters play their parts that the theatregoer is completely lost in the story. The cast besides the names of Barrymore and Costello includes many screen actors of world-wide fame.

Joint Recital by Violinists Tonight at Centennial Church

Particulars and programme have already been announced, and in addition to some of the greatest violin works to be played by these brilliant violinists, the noted English organist, Mr. Walter Richards, will contribute three organ numbers. Better the Man with His Eye to the Sky than the Man with His Ear to the Ground

ALL through its long, successful history, General Motors of Canada has had its eye to the horizon . . . listening not for what followed, but looking always toward the thing ahead.

And General Motors has seen many of its visions realized. . . .

It has seen a great industry grow up in Canada to supply the Canadian family with a means of transportation to meet its needs and resources, to answer the desire for style, dependability, luxury.

It has seen, in the Canadian Fisher Body plants, the perpetuation of Canadian ideals of craftsmanship.

It has seen, in the General Motors Research laboratories, the development of countless advances and refinements on which much of modern motoring comfort depends.

It has seen, on the General Motors Proving Grounds, the proof of principles which are now accepted factors in automobile design and construction.

It has seen the triumph of co-operative purchasing and manufacturing methods with their resultant economies to be shared with the buyers of General Motors cars.

And the eyes of General Motors are still to the horizon . . . still seeking new ways to improve General Motors cars and to place the cars within reach of ever-widening circles of Canadian buyers.

LECTURES UPON ALPINE SCENERY

Colonel Foster Gives Interesting Address to Comox District Canadian Club Members

CUMBERLAND, B.C., Oct. 24.—Lieut.-Col. W. W. Foster, D.S.O., lectured to the members of the Comox District Canadian Club on Friday at a dinner held in the Union Hotel. Col. Foster kept his audience spellbound for two hours with his talk on the Canadian National Park system and his famous lecture on "Alpine Scenery of B.C." The speaker, who had been speaking at Courtenay the previous day and outlining the scenery and possibilities of forming a district branch of the Canadian National Parks Association, spoke of the beauties of the scenery surrounding Cumberland and Courtenay. He said it was indeed a great pleasure to him to speak to such an appreciative audience, to people who were living with the finest of nature's handiwork right at their very door, so to speak.

He went briefly into the work the National Parks Association was doing and also the work the Parks Commission was doing, and urged one and all to work hard to obtain the people to follow up on the national areas to be set aside for all time, to be made inviolate so that the industrial possibilities should not mar the natural beauties of such areas. As an instance of how such areas developed the character of the people, he brought to the notice of the audience the esthetic value of Stanley Park to the people of Vancouver and its educational value to the children of that city.

In his lecture, "Alpine Scenery of British Columbia," Col. Foster, with the aid of illustrative slides, took his audience on a trip through the Canadian Rockies in an entertaining and instructive manner. He described in detail the price of all peaks in Canada, Mount Robson, the awe-inspiring canyons, the miles and miles of the beautiful limpid lakes set like jewels in a crown. The beautiful flora and carpets of moss-covered valleys, the picturesque specimens of wild life, all were treated by the lecturer in a very interesting and instructive manner, his listeners' attention being drawn to the magnificent scenery thrown on the screen and by the very lucid manner in which the Colonel explained very minutely a "What a Night," which was received with much amusement, the audience remaining unenlightened as to what was really said by Mr. Wilson. A solo by Mr. Toomer, "Deep in Their Graves," received an encore. "The Admiral's Broom," Mr. N. Fralick, in a Dutch character sketch, gave two amusing parodies, "Neapolitan Nights," and as an encore, "Little Blue Bird of My Heart." Mr. Mitchell, chairman of the committee, introduced Mr. Boyd McGill, of Victoria, who gave a splendid exhibition of shadowgraphs which birds and animals, silhouettes of notable persons, as well as comic sketches were clearly portrayed and met with much appreciation. The audience, Mr. Owen Thomas sang an amusing parody on "You Mustn't Ever Scrap the British Navy," and the program ended with the solo, "Sailing Over the Ocean Blue."

Mrs. Maye Albee Bushnell Off Again on One of Her Periodical Tours—New York This Time

Mrs. Maye Albee Bushnell, well known locally as Victoria's unofficial traveling publicity agent, is off again on one of her periodical journeys. This time she is bound for New York via the Panama Canal, having booked her passage yesterday at the local Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul office to San Francisco by way of the Southern Pacific Railway and the Panama Mail steamship Columbia through the canal.

Mrs. Bushnell secured a good supply of Publicity Bureau literature dealing with Victoria and Island before leaving, and will distribute it at various points along the route. She has traveled from here to various parts of the world during the last few years, preaching the gospel of Victoria wherever she goes.

"I am off again to do my best for Victoria, the city of my adoption," she said recently. "Boasting the city is my hobby in different parts of the world. I take a keen delight in telling others that there is no city with such beautiful surroundings and such an ideal climate. I shall return in January and expect by that time to have interested many people in the beauties of the island," she concluded.

Mrs. Bushnell was seen aboard the steamer by a large group of admiring friends who waved fond farewells to Victoria's "unofficial ambassador."

Willenden man: "I paid my wife her wages regularly, but she ran me badly into debt and then ran away."

MINER KILLED WHEN DETONATORS EXPLODE

A. Mackay Succumbs to Injuries in Alert Bay Hospital After Accident at Sayward

SAYWARD, Oct. 24.—A. Mackay, whose family lives in Vancouver, was fatally injured in an explosion at the Adams River Mine, which is situated about twelve miles from the Sayward Road. He died in the Alert Bay hospital, and the body was taken to Vancouver.

A box of about fifty caps exploded in a cabin, which was occupied by himself and J. Perkins. The latter was injured in the head and body.

In spite of his own injuries, Mr. Perkins, who is seventy-three years old, gave first aid to Mr. Mackay, stopping the bleeding of the latter's left arm, which was almost severed above the elbow, and dressing other wounds. Mr. Perkins then walked about four miles down the trail to a trapper's cabin, where he obtained assistance.

More Miners Are Asking For Conciliation Board

Canadian Collieries Workers Make Demand Similar to That of Nanaimo Men—D. S. Wallbridge Appointed on Board

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—D. S. Wallbridge, barrister, of Vancouver, will replace Nichol Thompson as the representative of the Western Fuel Corporation on the board which was established some days ago to inquire into the grievances of the miners and the company. About 1,200 men are affected. Mr. Thompson was unable to act due to his sailing for Europe in a few days. The men's member is Joseph Hinchin, of Nanaimo, B.C.

The dispute concerns the men's demand for a restoration of the bonus of ninety cents a day which, in June, 1925, was reduced to thirty cents. An expansion of the difficulty was seen today when the Federal Department of Labor received from the workers of the Canadian Collieries Company, which operates at Wellington, South Wellington and Ladysmith, on Vancouver Island, a request for a conciliation board to take under consideration a demand similar to that of the miners of the Western Fuel Corporation. Whether the board already appointed will be delegated to act in the two disputes is now being considered.

Junior Red Cross Branch Is Formed At Shauwigan Lake

SHAWWIGAN LAKE, Oct. 24.—A Shauwigan Lake branch of the Junior Red Cross Society has again been formed among the school children and is meeting every two weeks at the school. Mr. A. H. Pilon is acting as director. Harold Pilon is president, Margery Jeatt as secretary, Juanita Pelland as treasurer, and Lillian Pelland as circulation manager. This branch is affiliated with other branches throughout the Empire, with a total membership of ten million. Their main object is to help crippled children, and the twenty-five cents membership fee, which must be earned by the children themselves, goes to this object. Last year a tag day was held at Shauwigan and the money collected was sent to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Control Administration.

True Bill Found Against West Coast Indians Charged With Murder at Tofo

NANAIMO, Oct. 24.—The Fall session of the Nanaimo Assize Court, which adjourned over the week-end, resumed this morning before His Lordship Mr. Justice Murphy, the grand jury bringing in a true bill against three West Coast Indians, Semmen David, Edward Joe and Jacob George, charged with the murder of Edward Ainsley Leech, of Tofo. The trial will start on Tuesday.

The grand jury also brought in a brief recommendation respectfully requesting that the present for horn situated at Galiano Point, at the entrance to Nanaimo Harbor, be replaced by one less objectionable. After thanking them for the recommendation and their services, the members of the grand jury were discharged by his lordship from further attendance at the assize.

After an all-day trial, the jury returned within fifteen minutes with a verdict of not guilty in the case of Todie Dol, a young Japanese, of Cumberland, charged with manslaughter. Dol was the driver of a car which struck and killed a schoolgirl, Esther Wright Logan, in April last.

Mr. Arthur Leighton appeared for the crown and Mr. V. H. Harrison for the defence.

COUNCIL MAKES HOSPITAL GRANT

Equimait Gives $400 to Jubilee Hospital Laboratory to Cut Down Contagious Diseases

The annual grant of $400 was made to the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital laboratory by the Equimait Council yesterday after considerable discussion. Dr. J. S. McCallum, who was called in by the council to explain how the sum was arrived at and what work was being done by the laboratory, pointed out that the spread of infectious diseases was being kept down by examination which is at present free to residents of Equimait and other municipalities suffering from throat and other ailments likely to be contagious. He mentioned that the amount of the grant did not cover the total cost of work being done, and that it was derived from an average taken from examinations covering a period of three years.

As a nuisance in Equimait were discussed by the council. At present their keeping is permitted under the Milk By-law, and several complaints had been received in regard to their continual barking at night. Councillors felt that they had little control over them provided that they were kept in sanitary premises, but further thought that they should not be allowed in certain areas. Dr. McCallum mentioned a case where a lady requesting permission to keep goats had asked to be allowed to house fifty in a barn situated close to a residence.

Permission was granted the Hudson's Bay Company to cancel a subdivision in section 10, running along Lamson Street, to make room for a golf links to be constructed soon. Prizes received from the Prince of Wales through the Bank of Montreal will be planted in the Equimait War Memorial Park, it was decided.

The report received from Reeve James Elrick and Councillor A. Lockley, who attended the Good Roads League of B.C. and the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention at Nanaimo, was received with thanks by the council.

The report pointed out that the absolute necessity of a united effort to impress upon the authorities the importance of good roads for transportation purposes and the general development of the province was stressed to all delegates. The ever-increasing cost of education to all the municipalities of the province was discussed from all angles, and some relief was looked for in that direction. The delegates were successful in getting the convention to endorse a request for legislation to enforce underwriters to give three months' notice of any variation in insurance rates.

Trail Rebegins

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—Evidence submitted at the second trial of Thomas George Clark, charged with the murder of Jean McKinnon, June 12, which opened in Vancouver assize court today was practically identical with that brought out at the abortive trial three weeks ago. Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald adjourned court until 10 a.m. tomorrow when the Crown's case is to be finished. Instructing the jury, Mr. Justice Macdonald pointed out that the first trial had failed through one man becoming separated from the rest, and urged them to comply with the law this time.

"The Champagne of Ginger Ales"

THE witchery of a wonderful flavor has made "Canada Dry" the outstanding ginger ale success of all time.

Somehow it seems as if the very spirit of the snow-clad hills and the stimulation of mountain air have been captured within each crested, emerald bottle. Poured into fragile stemware, it bubbles and dances like a time-mellowed champagne and bids you drink and be merry.

"Canada Dry" is a better, finer ginger ale because we make very definite efforts to have it so. In the purity and quality of its ingredients, and the perfection of the methods by which it is made, it stands absolutely alone.

To millions of people it has advertised the name Canada and the outstanding quality of Made-in-Canada products. Even in New York it is acknowledged to be the finest ginger ale ever sold in the States.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

STUDY FOOD SCIENCE. Judging by the effects of some of our civil laws designed to regulate personal habits, if I wished to sell some particular food product, the best plan would be to get a law passed against its use. Known as this to be true, I always hesitate in condemning any certain food I have found, in my practice, to be injurious. I believe the best results can be obtained by teaching the true facts about the different articles used for food and leaving it to the individual to judge for himself to right and wrong kinds of food and the best ones to use for his health. Dietitians who prescribe arbitrary diets for patients often wonder why their instructions are not followed. It is usually because the patient did not recognize the reasons for such radical food changes and did not understand the philosophy of eating, the "do's" and "don'ts" looked much the same.

There is a real science to dietetics and this science must be studied and the truths believed before the student can hope to change permanently from bad eating habits to good ones. Laws laid down for moral or ethical conduct always fail in their purpose unless they are understandable and practiced by the individual because he considers them right, and not solely because some authority claims them to be. It is therefore difficult to answer in a few words so many of the questions sent in by correspondents who want to know if a certain food is good or bad for them. We arrive at a scientific knowledge of food from so many sources that the short answer to a question is never as satisfactory as it would be if all of the various ramifications of the subject could be taken up and explained. Racial and personal experiences must be understood as well as the results of clinical and laboratory experiments. It is therefore essential for the one undertaking the study of dietetics to delve into the subject very deeply in order to understand the many viewpoints necessary to a complete understanding of all of the principles involved. In no other way will he be able to develop confidence in his conclusions.

If the vegetarian idea is to be understood, the student must read books on this subject written by those who have made a study of it. If the conclusions of the raw-food advocate are to be judged, the student must read what these uncooked food theories are, as presented in books on the subject. If one is to get an adequate idea of the respective virtues of a meat diet or a no-meat plan, it will be necessary to compare carefully the statements and findings of the followers of both of these systems. Only in this manner will the earnest seeker after truth be able to extract the good from all of the multiplicity and chaos of the systems which seems to him to be good. Exaggerated claims must not be allowed to detract one from val-

The House of Rogues

By CHRISTOPHER B. BOOTH

"Don't be a fool, Edwards!" snapped the doctor. "Don't be such an infernal fool. Keep your mouth shut and let a real detective have a chance to think. What do you make of it, Mr. Baskerville?"

"You're asking me a question, doctor, that I hope to answer soon, but that can't be answered now. It is, of course, obvious that the one murder is part and parcel of the other. There are so many loose ends to be gathered in that so far it all seems a hopeless tangle—and, up to date, the farther we go the worse tangled we get. Theories—guesses are easy, but it's making them stand up that counts. I am not ready to do even guessing just now. I will say, however, that it changes the whole aspect of Strawn's death."

"I want to ask you, doctor, if there is any way to approximate the length of time that has elapsed since this man has been dead?"

"Not with any dependable accuracy, Mr. Baskerville; an autopsy may be of some help to us. I would say, as a rough estimate, that this man has been in water for several hours—say four and possibly five."

J.B. nodded.

"That would place it at approximately the time that John Strawn was shot to death in his study," he said. "That's what I rather expected."

Dr. McAllister turned towards Peterson.

"How did you happen to be fishing here in Pocket Cove?" he inquired.

"Aw, I come here purty often, Doc; it's good fishin' ground in the cove. Flounders, Doc, an' I've had it to myself for most a couple of years."

Tommy Oliver looked along the rugged curve of the beach; he turned and glanced back toward The House of Rogues. Over the top of the intervening sand dunes, rearing their naked heads high above the shore, only the roof of the old place was visible. It was the only place of habitation within a considerable distance; the man who killed Three-Finger Frank had disposed of the body by weighting it down with the boat anchor had run little risk of detection. There had been no prying eyes to see; little danger of observation unless some accidental visitor had happened down to the cove.

The slayer of Three-Finger Frank had used a boat. What had become of the boat?

Tommy thought of the boat-house which belonged to The House of Rogues; that was quite some distance up the beach; he could not even see it from where he stood, hidden as it was behind the irregular line of the shore. Without an explanation to even J.B., he slipped away, unobserved, ploughing through the sand.

As he went he tried to guess the answer to the complicated riddle, but it baffled even guessing.

How could any of the previous suspects have killed Frank Padden? And why should they have killed him? For that matter, why should anyone have killed Padden?

Reaching the boat-house, there was disappointment. He had more than half expected to find a boat—a boat with an anchor missing and tell-tale bloodstains. Such a wound as had caused Three-Finger Frank's death must have resulted in profuse bleeding, he thought.

"Gee, but that's hard luck!" he said aloud. "I wonder what happened to the boat—if there was a boat." It didn't seem reasonable that the murderer would have sought escape in the slow progress of a boat, although he might have rowed a little way along the shore.

"There's the tide!" he told himself as an afterthought. "The boat might have been set adrift and the tide carried it out. If that's what happened it probably would be swamped and is at the bottom of Davy Jones' locker by this time."

Tommy, nothing gained by this little expedition, turned and retraced his steps to the place where the others were still gathered about that mute thing in the sand which, until some time that morning had been Frank Padden, alias Three-Finger Frank.

"Eriff Edwards, not to be denied a show of his authority, was badgering Bob Dolliver with endless questions. Bob had no choice but to endure them, having refuge only in an obstinate silence which, to the sheriff, was even further proof of his guilt.

Baskerville had taken his chief's telegram from his pocket where he had shoved it so hastily upon Tommy's dramatic return from the village, and was reading.

"Convict No. 2,002, Frank Padden, alias Three-Finger Frank, released last Monday, Reynard's cell mate for three months. Black. Five dressed out Atlanta nine o'clock this morning and caught first train north with two operatives trailing him. Padden served eighteen months complicity mail truck robbery. No previous Government record, but has served short term Sing Sing for highway robbery."

"There's just one thing we know, doctor," said J.B., to the coroner, putting the telegram back into his pocket again. "That's this man's name, and that he came here after the counterfeiting plates."

"No trace of the plates on him, eh, J.B.?" asked Tommy.

Baskerville shook his head.

"That was hardly to be expected," he answered. "If Padden ever had his hands on 'em they were taken away from him by the man who killed him. Where've you been chasing off to, lad?"

"Looking for the boat, J.B. Thought it might give us a clue—only there wasn't any boat." Tommy took a step nearer and stared down at the hands of Three-Finger Frank; the palms were blistered raw. He turned quickly to the corner.

"Say, Doc," he demanded eagerly, "what sort of a thing was used to smash this fellow's hands?"

"That would be hard to say; something with a sharp edge," was the answer.

Tommy pointed to the dead man's hands.

"I can tell you what killed him," he said. "It was the same thing that made them blisters—a shovel. He was hit over the head with the edge of the shovel that he bought at Pond Bay."

Jasper Baskerville stared.

"A shovel!" he exclaimed. "What in the name of kingdom come did the man want with a shovel?"

Tommy Oliver's freckled face wrinkled and he heaved a prodigious sigh.

"That's what I want to know, J.B., and something tells me that if we knew why he bought the shovel we'd be a little nearer to the bottom of the whole business than we are now."

"Shovel!" muttered Baskerville. "Shovel!" Something due to puzzle about. Just then he thought of the moist bit of clay that he had found beneath the edge of the table in the bookroom.

Storm in Gaspé Exaggerated Says Later Accounts

QUEBEC, Oct. 24.—That the reports current in Quebec last Saturday that a storm had brought disaster to a section of the Gaspé Peninsula were happily exaggerated of the real situation, was contained in a message received here today from J. S. Gordon, general manager of the Quebec, Ontario & Atlantic and Quebec & Western Railways, at New Carlisle, Quebec.

New Carlisle is situated in the southeast port of the province, scene of the reported disaster.

In his message, Mr. Gordon stated a severe storm struck Gaspé County last week. Several small wooden bridges and culverts had been washed out, but practically no damage was done to the railway lines. As a precautionary measure, only one trip of a passenger train had been cancelled. No loss of life and no serious damage to private property had been reported.
